

“America, America, God shed his grace on thee”

As we sing these familiar words this year as we celebrate Independence Day, let's ask for God's favor on our land as we use the acronym GRACE as a guide to pray for our nation that we might be:

Godly: realizing our freedom and strength ultimately and always comes from our sovereign God.

Righteous: that we might be a holy people, not ashamed to have goals of piety and goodness in our personal, family, and corporate lives.

Active: in good works, realizing the needs of our world are great and with the great material blessings we have, we are to share generously with those in our world who are hungry and hurting.

Christ-like: may we as a nation and people be like Jesus, strong, but compassionate, helpful and humble, powerful, but a servant.

Evangelistic: not ashamed of the gospel of Christ and brave to share it in our lives and words, so that all the world will know the peace that can only come through Jesus.

As we celebrate our earthly freedom, make us mindful of your grace and help us to be graceful witnesses to our world.

Amen

“America, America, God shed his grace on thee”

As we sing these familiar words this year as we celebrate Independence Day, let's ask for God's favor on our land as we use the acronym GRACE as a guide to pray for our nation that we might be:

Godly: realizing our freedom and strength ultimately and always comes from our sovereign God.

Righteous: that we might be a holy people, not ashamed to have goals of piety and goodness in our personal, family, and corporate lives.

Active: in good works, realizing the needs of our world are great and with the great material blessings we have, we are to share generously with those in our world who are hungry and hurting.

Christ-like: may we as a nation and people be like Jesus, strong, but compassionate, helpful and humble, powerful, but a servant.

Evangelistic: not ashamed of the gospel of Christ and brave to share it in our lives and words, so that all the world will know the peace that can only come through Jesus.

As we celebrate our earthly freedom, make us mindful of your grace and help us to be graceful witnesses to our world.

Amen

